My dear fiends

It has now happened after all! I have built myself a house, at my now rather advanced stage in life. In line with my expansive nature, it has become quite extensive. I don't even know how many rooms it has exactly. There are, however, five wings, and my portrait stands at the entrance, befitting this impressive manor.

The special thing about this house is that every woman and every man has unrestricted access. The doors are wide open 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. It is accessible from any point on this earth. Its address:

You can walk around my home freely, happily look around you and even take whatever you like with you - under the only condition that you mention which house it comes from.

I am, of course, also there, but - as my webmaster Mauro Peduzzi admirably remarked - the house is actually a universe in which you have to organise something to meet. So here is my contact address:

imesch@iggz.ch

To enter the house, you need a touch of curiosity, but no courage. Here and there it may smell of sleepless nights and also the multitude of people who have contributed to the construction of this house, and to whom I am very grateful, are present but invisible, and may be felt by one person or another in the form of a ghostly breath.

I look forward to hearing your impressions and experiences from your visit to my house.
